

Hello Mover!

In this message you will receive:

The object to be hidden.

The instructions on how to find the location in the map.

Let the game begin!

The object to be hidden is a teaspoon. Your teamplayer (Sewer) will find a way to communicate to you the location in the map without showing you the map or telling you about the location. Once the sewer has communicated to you the location you must proceed in hiding the object.

No further communication with the Sewer is allowed.

Once you have completed the task of hiding the object, upload a photo in the designated area in the forum revealing the location you hid the object and wait to see what location the sewer actually wanted you to leave the object at! The adventure is successfully completed if both of you have the same location!

Good luck!